

Schedule employees in half the time

The problem

Managers were spending 15–20 hours each week to schedule 250 employees across nine locations using spreadsheets.

The solution

Use When I Work to make scheduling faster and easier.

General Manager

Prior to using When I Work, 12 scheduling managers were spending half of their working hours creating the schedule in spreadsheets every week. With a growing business, Jim knew he needed a better way.

FAVORITE FEATURE

SCHEDULING

After implementing When I Work, his managers have been able to cut their scheduling time in half, saving up to 120 administrative hours each week. They can better forecast their labor needs and schedule further in advance, making employees happier. Plus, with the time they gained back, now they’re able to focus on planning and hiring for their stores.
